School Elections Saturday Afternoon; Both Have Contests

Referendum for Sale of Dwelling on High School Site

With scarcely a rest from Tuesday's township election, Antioch and Lake Villa townships again will be called to the polls Saturday afternoon—this time to select members of the high school and grade school boards.

In both elections there are contests for most of the offices.

Contesting for the two three-year positions on the Antioch Grade school board of education are Fern Lux, Elmer Baethke, Henry J. Rentner, and Arthur Laursen. Baethke and Rentner are serving on the board at present.

Seeking election for the two-year term is Mrs. Helen Patrovsky, who was appointed to fill a vacancy last fall.

Voting will be at the school building.

Three vacancies on the Antioch Township High School board are sought by six candidates. They are Walter Hills (incumbent); Roman Vos, Virginia Herbst, Milburn C. Cain, John F. Romer, and Leona Petersen. Mrs. Herbst and Romer are residents of Lake Villa.

Voting will be at the high school and at the Lake Villa Grade school for Lake Villa township residents. Voters in the high school district will also vote on a proposal to sell a two-story frame dwelling on the high school property to make room for parking.

The two elections are regarded by many as more important than the town election, since widespread publicity has made voters of the district conscious of the fact that approximately two-thirds of all real estate taxes are consumed by schools. The constantly increasing cost of taxes have made most residents adopt the attitude that the strictest economy should be practiced in the operation of our schools.

It has been pointed out that the persons elected to the school boards should be well-qualified in order that the best job of education can be accomplished for the least amount of money. In Saturday's elections, a number of candidates are on the ballots, and it is believed that voters will turn out in large numbers to select board members at both schools.

Cancer Crusade Stresses "Seven Danger Signals"

During the month of April, the American Cancer Society's crusade for funds will stress the importance of the "seven danger signals" which everyone is urged to memorize.

This was announced by Mrs. Elvin Keulman, Antioch, and Mrs. John Perry, Lake Villa, local Cancer Crusade chairmen.

Copies of the crusade leaflet of the American Cancer Society will be distributed free to all during the drive for funds to support the year round programs of research, education and service of the society. "This is one of the ways that the public is being alerted to cancer's seven danger signals," the chairmen said.

On the cover of the leaflet is a striking drawing of a young mother saved from cancer, and her daughter. The drawing was contributed by Amos Sewell, well known Westport, Conn., artist. The leaflet explains that the mother was saved through her knowledge of cancer's seven danger signals, but points out that each year more than 60,000 youngsters under 18 lose a parent to cancer.

The seven danger signals, which the American Cancer Society urges everyone to memorize are:

1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

"These symptoms may not mean cancer, but anyone of them should send you promptly to your doctor," the ACS says.

During the month of April hundreds of volunteers under the direction of their local chairmen will seek to raise $31,500 as Lake county's share of the national goal of $18,000,000 to carry on the life-saving work of the Society.

Contributions may be dropped in the mail addressed to "CANCER," in care of your local postmaster.

Seek Law to Halt Cars For School Buses That Are Loading, Unloading

The Chicago motor club has recently proposed changes in Illinois traffic laws requiring vehicles to stop for loading or unloading school buses. The changes are designed to bring the State statutes into conformity with the national Uniform Vehicle Code.

"Illinois traffic laws, which are based on national model laws, should be amended in the interest of highway safety to make them consistent with other states which have also patterned their laws after the Uniform code," stated Chas. M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club.

The first of the two principal changes in the law would exempt vehicles from stopping for a halted school bus when traveling in the opposite direction on a superhighway or in the same direction on a limited access type roadway where pedestrians are prohibited by law from crossing.

The other amendment deals with the requirement that a motorist must stop when approaching a school from either direction at all times. The Motor club proposal would alter this requirement to apply only outside a business or residential section.

Waukegan Secretary Addresses C. of C. on Getting New Industry

Members of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce met Monday evening, in the Village Hall, and following a short business meeting Anthony "Tony" Amundson, secretary-manager of the Waukegan North Chicago Chamber of Commerce, was introduced by President Cernak as guest speaker for the evening.

Mr. Amundson, speaking from his vast experience as resort area manager in the Stevens Point, Wis., area, gave the members an outline of procedures to follow in promoting tourist trade in Antioch, pointed out the need of courtesy in the handling of visitors to our town, and made concrete suggestions for the betterment of all the business people in the area through concerted effort.

The subject of securing additional industry for the Antioch area was gone into thoroughly. Mr. Amundson has directed the programs of several large cities in setting up industrial surveys which could be presented to prospective industries seeking expansion, and he followed suggestions on this subject with specific recommendations for the Antioch area.

Having made two trips through Antioch recently, Mr. Amundson was surprised at the number of merchants who did not advertise their stores and merchandise for sale by having lighted show windows after the regular closing time. This, he said, creates an unfavorable impression upon anyone stopping, or passing through the town, with the possibility of having future business as the result. The cost of such advertising is very small in comparison to the benefits gained, he pointed out.

Mr. Amundson pointed out that the business and professional people of Antioch must follow the example of the farmer, who puts back a portion of his profits into his land in order to keep it productive. Antioch businessmen must give their help in the form of time, and financial support to their Chamber of Commerce if they wish to continue growing and prospering.

Following the talk was a question and answer period.

Legal Bar Obstructs Annexation of Crown Subdivision at Present

Village Board Adjourns to April 20 to Consider Remedies

Plans for annexing the Crown Realty Co. subdivision struck a snag during the past week, the village board was told by Atty. Edward C. Jacobs.

It was discovered that several lots owned by persons other than the realty company would be isolated if annexation were to take place and that is contrary to law.

Whether the Crown Realty Co. will be able to buy the lots is not known, but the matter will be up for consideration at an adjourned meeting of the board set for April 20.

The board couldn't do much more than debate matters Tuesday because the plans and specifications for the water well won't be ready for two weeks.

C. E. Hennings told the trustees that all landowners in the area which he would have brought into the city limits along with his property on Rte. 59 have agreed, but the Public Service Co. wants a provision that the area will not be zoned strictly for residence. It has much equipment on its property.

Atty. Jacobs told the board it couldn't make the promise because rezoning in the future will be in the hands of a zoning board.

Just what sort of compromise can be worked out is not yet known.

Little League to Use Memorial Park for Ball Grounds After a Year

Approval of a plan whereby a baseball diamond will be constructed at Memorial park for use by the Little League was given by a committee from the village board following an investigation last evening.

Parents of youngsters in the Little League appeared before the board Tuesday evening and asked that consideration be given to the construction of a baseball grounds at the park.

The league will use the diamond east of the Soo Line railroad this year the same as last year but it is expected that next year the ground will not be available, at least at the place now in use.

The board had suggested that another place not far from the spot now used for baseball be developed, but the parents of the boys said they would rather use Memorial park.

Work will be started this summer in getting the diamond ready for next year. Mayor James McMillen said that the committee considered that there would be enough room without disturbing other features of the park.

V.F.W. Aids Lake Villa Grade School Band $41

The Lake Villa School band which was formed three years ago, and is conducted by Thala Rush, was very successful in District and State competition last year. Due to the growth of enrollment this year the band has also grown until they find the fifty uniforms they originally started with were not enough, nor did they have sufficient money for transportation to the district contests. Grade schools do not make provision for uniforms or traveling expenses, so interested people in the community formed an organization called the Lake Villa School Band association to raise money for extra uniforms and other expenses.

The Sequoit Post V. F. W. heard of this and offered to help by setting aside a Friday night in their regular schedule of Friday night entertainment to help raise money for the Band. They were able to raise $41 in this way.

On Saturday, March 28, the entire Lake Villa School band went by buses to Plainfield to compete in the District event. The children were competing against schools with enrollment up to 750 pupils. The Lake Villa band won second place.

Submitted by C. A. Wolfenbarger, President
Antioch Little League

Most people believe that participation in baseball is a fine thing for boys. Parents encourage their sons to take part in baseball, because they regard it as a wholesome, beneficial game and as desirable a play activity as is available. It is, after all, the national pastime and taking part in it is the birthright of every American boy.

However, baseball is not automatically a desirable experience for boys. It might be under some circumstances, but under other circumstances it could prove positively detrimental. Whether or not baseball is good for boys depends upon the total effect of the game upon them. Certainly, all boys will benefit from the vigorous outdoor exercise. However, they derive more than exercise from baseball. Their minds and emotions are involved in the game as well as their muscles. From the managers, teammates, opponents, officials, and spectators they learn many things. While they are learning the skills of the game they are also learning many habits and attitudes in regard to themselves and other people which are extremely important to their future success and happiness. They can learn to win and lose gracefully, to be loyal or disloyal, cooperative or uncooperative, courteous or discourteous to opponents and umpires, prejudiced or unprejudiced to those of different color, race or creed, to swear or not to swear, to be considerate of those with lesser ability, and to subjugate their own selfish desires for the good of the team.

Baseball is like a laboratory with its potentialities for good or for evil. The crucible in the situation is the leadership which is available. Under the right type of coach or manager baseball could become as fine an educational experience as any boy might undergo. Such a coach or manager will foster and encourage the situations and experiences which will produce desirable habits and attitudes in boys and he will prevent and discourage those which develop the wrong characteristics.

What is the right type of leadership? Peculiarly enough, baseball skill or knowledge is not the prime requisite. The most important qualification is exemplary character. If boys are to develop desirable qualities their manager must set the example. What he speaks louder than what he says. Boys won't accept decisions of the officials in the proper manner if the coach is an umpire-baiter. Good sportsmanship can be developed only if the coach himself constantly practices it. The players always reflect their coach.

Another important qualification of a coach is an interest in boys. The manager who works with boys for self-glorification and personal gain will never place the welfare of the boys above his selfish objectives.

He must be genuinely interested in helping boys become better citizens through the medium of baseball. He must be more concerned with what happens to the character and personality of his players than the won and lost record of the team.

An understanding of boys is an indispensable qualification of a manager. He will find a variety of temperaments on any team and each must be handled differently. Only the coach who understands the feelings and behavior of youngsters can help them to adjust successfully when they lose their temper, alibi their shortcomings, become discouraged or frustrated, boastful, overconfident, disappointed, argumentative or disrespectful to others. Baseball abounds with situations which possess great potentialities for inculcating desirable lessons for boys, but the coach who does not understand them cannot take advantage of his strategic position.

Baseball knowledge and skill are essential attributes of the successful manager. These qualities give the coach prestige in the eyes of the players which is a prerequisite for successful leadership. Such esteem is a necessary condition if the boys are to discipline themselves, make sacrifices, and subject themselves to the rules and regulations of the team.

In summary, the criterion of the successful coach is not the won and lost record of the team. It is rather the one who has changed the behavior of his players in the most positive way—the one who has taught the most valuable lessons. Success depends upon the social and moral lessons which the boys have acquired as well as the mastering of the fundamentals of hitting, fielding and throwing. The poor coach is interested only in winning ball games. The good coach is just as interested in winning games, but in addition he wants his players to come out of the baseball experiences better citizens.

Because baseball means so much in the lives of American youth, they idealize those who are their coaches and managers. The influence of these leaders upon these impressionable youngsters is very great—so great in fact that no community can afford to have anything short of the finest type of leadership. It was Daniel Poling who said, "Give me the direction of the play life of the youth of this generation and I will dictate the world's path tomorrow."

Grass Roots Opinion

LONG PRAIRIE, MINN., LEADER: "Federal aid to schools is bad for two reasons in particular: 1. Federal aid to schools would mean eventual federal control of education. 2. Federal aid is not necessary. There is not a state in the union that is not better able to support its schools than is the federal government to take on the new burden. The total debt of all the 48 states is less than $24,000,000,000. The debt of the federal government is now in excess of $265,000,000,000."

KNOXVILLE, IOWA, EXPRESS: "When the unions become political parties instead of organizations for the worker's welfare then the benefits that could be gained turn into loss of work for the laborer and loss of production for the nation as a whole."

WALTERBORO, S. C., PRESS AND STANDARD: "Too many of the elected representatives of the people have forgotten one true fact—the power to tax is the power to destroy."

VIRGINIA, MINN., MESABI DAILY NEWS: "The mills of the gods may grind slowly, but the output of government press agents flows as a torrent."

ning, April 11, at 8 p. m. All popular games will be played and there will be prizes and refreshments as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Boehm left early this week to spend a couple of weeks at Alexandria, Va., and their daughter, Mrs. Catherine Reynolds, who spent last week with them, returned to her home.

Will Tell of Rescue At Sea Through Prayer During Radio Program

The account of a remarkable sea rescue resulting from prayer will be heard Sunday, Apr. 12, in the first of three 15-minute Christian Science programs on the "Faith in Action" hour of NBC radio network.

The verified experience of a Wisconsin girl completely healed through prayer in Christian Science of an aggravated case of polio, after a medical diagnosis had given her three months to live, will be presented April 12.

Originating at WMAQ, Chicago, the series also will include a program Apr. 26, on how to overcome the habit of criticizing through prayer, it was announced by Edward Froderman, Christian Science Committee on Publication for Illinois.

The "Faith in Action" hour, available from NBC to its national network at 9:45 a. m. EST, Sundays, is heard on about fifty stations. Station WMAQ, Chicago, will broadcast the Christian Science series in this area at 10:00 a. m. (CST Apr. 12 and 19; CDT Apr. 26). Speaker on the first Christian Science program, entitled "Your God-given Protection" is to be Ralph E. Wagers, well-known Christian Science lecturer. Otto G. Ziegenhagen, Christian Science practitioner in Chicago, will conduct the April 19 program on "God's Power Can Heal You," and Martin Crane, a Chicago attorney will appear on "Getting Rid of Critical Thinking." Music on all three programs will be furnished by the Lola Fletcher quartet.

Antioch Woman's Club Hears Interesting Talk

Members of the Antioch Woman's club were treated to a very pleasant afternoon Monday, when they had as their guest and speaker, Wilma Burt Mears, of Kenosha, Wis.

Mrs. Mears is a member of the American Photographic society, and a member of camera clubs in and about Kenosha. She spoke of her visit to the Gaspé Peninsula and showed the club members beautiful colored slides of small fishing villages, boys and their dog carts, racks of codfish drying in the sun and many other subjects typical of the locality. High rugged rocks and cliffs were shown contrasted to the brilliant blues of the ocean and sky.

Following the program a delicious tea was served by the officers of the club.

PLAN PROGRAM TO REACH FAMILIES FOR GOD IN ANTIOCH AREA

An intensive program of prayer and visitation will be undertaken beginning April 20 by members and friends of the Methodist church of Antioch to reach families for God in this area. Emphasizing the fact that worship, prayer and the spiritual life must be a family affair, efforts will be made to enlist entire families.

The program of visitation will be under the chairmanship of B. G. Guilhaume, former superintendent of the church school. Families with children in church school and families having no church affiliation will be contacted by the visitation teams. Special efforts will be made to reach new families in the area.

Leaders in the church school are hoping that the results of the visitation will mean a 50 per cent increase in attendance in the Sunday school which has been averaging well over 200 each week. It was pointed out that facilities are now available to accommodate an attendance of 300 and new teachers are being enlisted for growing classes.

SERMONS PLANNED TO AID THOSE SEEKING GROWTH IN FAITH

A series of services planned for those beginning their search for God and the Christian life, and to help others to grow in spiritual nurture have been planned as a post-Easter event at the Methodist church in Antioch. Special music for the period from Easter to Pentecost is being arranged.

The Rev. G. Richard Tuttle, minister of the church said that these services will endeavor to lift seekers from doubt to faith, from ideas "about" God to deeper Christian conviction, to new and abundant life. The sermon this Sunday will deal with the evidences of God's reality in the commonplace of life.

Miss Janice Runyard spent the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Runyard of Channel Lake.

Grass Lake Brownie Scouts Have Happy Easter Party

Brownie Scouts of Grass Lake Troop No. 11 had a happy Easter party Monday, March 30, at the Scout home. Decoration, refreshment and game committees had been appointed weeks ago.

Decorations were white, pink and yellow crepe paper as the tablecloth, a toy wheelbarrow centerpiece which the girls covered with green and yellow crepe paper, and filled with pink grass, pussywillows and jonquills they had made under the direction of Mrs. Florence Yancey.

Purple streamers attached to the wheelbarrow streamed out to east easter basket the girls made themselves. Mrs. Claire Sargol let them use a dressed cotton Easter bunny standing 18 inches high which made the whole setting adorable.

Refreshments planned by the girls consisted of cup cakes decorated with colored icings, coconut and candy eggs, orange soda, and candy in the baskets. Mrs. Barbara Mitchell assisted this group.
Games planned by the girls included pin the tail on the bunny, name the color of the egg, and an egg rolling relay. Mrs. Sargol assisted with the games and took colored moving pictures of the party.

As can be imagined a good time was had by all, and all were proud of the way the committee worked together and carried out their plans. Each Brownie made an extra Easter basket and these were taken to patients at the Lake County hospital Saturday by a committee of two Brownies, Patricia Jo McGrath, Bonnie Duncan and Mrs. Nemece.

Auxiliary News

Child Welfare

The Child Welfare program of the American Legion auxiliary is one of the most important of all its activities. "A Square Deal for Every Child" has been the slogan of the Auxiliary since its beginning. Although child welfare work is carried on all year, the month of April has been set aside in which to stress the activities of this program.

A new project is being conducted this year known as "Aid to the Needy Children in Korea." All Legion and Auxiliary members have been asked to collect new knit slipover sweaters for these children to be sent through department headquarters to one of four orphanages in Korea, namely: Kyongnam Children's Institution; Gullu Hak Won Orphanage; Masan Inae Won Orphanage or Chugui City Children's Orphanage.

Units all over the United States have organized knitting groups and are making sweaters to be sent to these institutions. Over 600 have been received by the State auxiliary and sent on to Korea since the call went out in January.

Antioch unit contributed to the Auxiliary's state program which provides for a Christmas gift to every child of a veteran cared for in an Illinois institution. It gives aid to the children in the Illinois Soldiers' and Sailors' Children's school at Normal, Ill., and provides necessities for their living quarters. Another addition to the Auxiliary's program this year is helping provide artificial limbs for needy children.

Auxiliary Loan Fund

Contributions received from units throughout the state have enabled the state department of the American Legion Auxiliary to aid many students, orphans of veterans, seeking assistance for higher education. Qualified children of veterans may secure loans for higher educational purposes from the auxiliary simply by applying to their local unit for aid, supplying the needed credentials and school grades.

The National Auxiliary gives two scholarships in each division, each year, ten awards in all, valued at $600 each.

Illinois American Legion Auxiliary
Opportunity scholarship for girls is also $600. Students interested in these scholarships are urged to contact the president, Mrs. Clarence Larson, or the chairman, Mrs. Floyd Horton, Antioch unit for further information immediately.

The next regular meeting of Antioch Unit will be held Friday, Apr. 10 at 8 p. m. in the Legion home. As this month is designated as "Pan American Study," Mrs. Walter Hills, Pan American chairman has a program arranged for the social meeting of the Unit April 24. The nation studied this year is Costa Rica.

Want To Buy A House?

The house above, known as the old Dunn House, will be for sale by the high school board if voters of the district approve in a special referendum to be held Saturday. Present plans call for selling the house to the highest bidder for removal from the high school property. A special ballot will be provided to empower the board to dispose of the house. The land occupied by the house at present is needed to enlarge the parking lot and ground since the new addition takes up much of the space formerly available north of the building.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

SHORT STORY

Her Part

By Duke Allisont

JERRY liked to imagine that she did things to attract his attention. Her name was Bonny Taylor. He noticed her the first day he came to work for the No-Skid Tire Company. She was a secretary to Mr. MacMerry, whose office was located across the room from where Jerry sat at a desk and officiated as assistant to the foreign agency manager. Two or three times a day she walked by his desk on the way to the water cooler or the corridor outside. Sometimes he'd meet her on the stairs. Once she came into the restaurant where he was eating lunch. Twice he came face to face with her on the street.

He began pretending she was trying to attract his attention, that all their casual meetings were the products of artifice instigated by her.

After working in the same office with her for a month it naturally happened that when they met outside they exchanged impersonal nods. But beyond this nothing happened. This was in sharp contrast to her association with the other young men in the office. Enviously Jerry watched them flirt with her, watched her encourage their attentions, yet never show partiality, always maintain a certain poise and dignity. This, he decided, was part of her game. She was, it soon became evident, angling for Dan Stevens, who was the son of the company's vice-president.

Watching all this Jerry was sickened. He was thankful that no one knew of his secret dreams. In order to spare himself more unhappiness he pretended an interest in Doris Damon, the stenographer to whom he sometimes dictated letters. Doris was a blonde with blue eyes and when she stopped to analyze her she wasn't bad looking.

Doris liked him. He could tell that by the way she looked and talked. This liking gave him a measure of pleasure, served to salve the wounds unwittingly inflicted by Bonny Taylor's indifference.

Matters were in this state when the Non-Skid Tire Company's office force held its annual banquet and dance in the Hotel Mayfield. Jerry asked Doris Damon to attend with him and she accepted. There were 20 present in the banquet hall and Jerry discovered that directly across the table from him Bonny Taylor and Dan Stevens were sitting.

He tried to concentrate on Doris. He tried to think of a topic of conversation in which they could become involved and which would absorb his attention. But it wasn't any use. His eyes continuously dwelt on the slim loveliness of Bonny Taylor.

He went into the men's dressing room and smoked a cigaret in miserable solitude. When he returned to the hall the dance was in progress. Standing in the archway he suddenly became conscious of some one beside him and saw that it was Bonny Taylor. Prompted by an irrational impulse he asked her to dance, and before he knew how it came about she was in his arms.

It may have been the wine Jerry drank at dinner or it may have been the culmination of all the weeks of pretending that prompted his next move. They were passing a door that opened onto a dimly lit veranda. He danced her through it. Suddenly they were alone. They had stopped dancing. Jerry heard himself saying: "Listen, Bonny Taylor, why don't you stop making a fool of yourself over those empty-headed asses in the office and marry me?"

"You never asked me," said Bonny Taylor.

Bonny laughed softly and lifted her face to his. "I've been waiting for you to ask me ever so long. I've been trying to attract your attention for ages. I contrived to meet you places, I passed your desk a half dozen times a day. I followed you into restaurants. It never did any good. Finally I began flirting with other men in the office in the hopes that you might want to flirt too. But that didn't do any good. I managed to sit across from you tonight and waited for you to come into the dance hall—why, my heavens, I've certainly done my part."

Jerry grabbed her. "Baby," he said. "Leave the rest to me."

WHAT ABOUT PIG ANEMIA?

Q: What causes pig anemia?

A: This is a nutritional trouble caused by lack of iron. It generally occurs in young pigs which do not have access to soil and vegetation, natural sources of iron. Baby pigs get no iron through the sow's milk.

Q: How serious a problem is anemia?

A: It is one of the chief causes of unthriftiness and deaths in young swine. Pigs which suffer even light attacks of anemia may never gain well. They are also easy prey for other diseases.

Q: When is this trouble most likely to appear?

A: Within the first two weeks after birth.

Q: How does it act?

A: At first pigs look well. Then they start to thump, lose weight, become dull and sluggish. Some linger on for several weeks before dying, others go into a coma and die more quickly.

Q: What can be done to prevent this trouble?

A: Baby pigs should be given small amounts of iron and copper.

Q: Does a shovelful of dirt placed in each pen help?

A: Some authorities recommend this, providing the soil is from clean ground. If the dirt is taken from old pastures or lots it may expose the pigs to parasite and germ infection.

Q: What about wabbling the sows' udders with molasses containing some copper and iron?

A: This practice is unsanitary. It's better to obtain a special iron-copper supplement from the veterinarian.

NOTE—Due to space limitations, general questions cannot be handled by this column.

WHAT ABOUT SWINE PARASITES?

Q: How much do swine parasites cost farmers?

A: The annual cost runs into many millions of dollars—needless loss that farmers could well avoid.

Q: How do parasites cause so much damage?

A: Not only by death losses, but they cause pigs to waste enormous amounts of feed. A herd of parasite-infected pigs may take as much as seven weeks extra to reach market weight.

Q: Which swine parasites cause the most trouble?

A: Roundworms, kidney, nodular, and thorn-head worms. Tests show that from 36 to 74 percent of all swine are infected with roundworms alone.

Q: How can an owner tell when his pigs have parasites?

A: Typical danger signs are slow-growing, pot-bellied, underfed-looking pigs which do not do well.

Q: What can swine raisers do about the problem?

A: Litters should be farrowed in clean pens, then moved to clean, fresh pasture, as early as possible. Pigs should be kept on clean pasture until ready to be moved into dry lot for fattening. This practice sometimes reduces pig losses up to 50 percent.

Q: What about external parasites?

A: They cost hog raisers heavy money, too. Mange holds back gains an average of $2.00 per animal, while packers may dock mangy hogs an additional $1.50 or more at market. Hog lice also cut into profits, spread disease. Both can be controlled by oiling, dipping or dusting with insecticides.

Library News

The young people of Antioch are reading more than ever before in spite of the distractions of social activities and television. Of the 20,000 books and periodicals circulated by the Antioch Township Library in the past year, the children borrowed over 55 1/2 per cent. Since only 46 per cent of the library's 1700 patrons are children, and only one-third of the book stock of 10,123 is in the children's rooms, this upward trend is very encouraging.

During the year some minor repairs were made on the library building and an attractive illuminated sign was installed. The cost of operating the library was $6318.89, an amount $600 less than the previous year.
